Eventually this car was released by the Government and returned to [REDACTED].

C. Clinton Prison Record

b7C

On February 18, 1958, [REDACTED] Clinton Prison, made available the record of Subject.

The record reflects that he was sentenced January 8, 1931, by Judge CONWAY, Kings County Court, Brooklyn, New York, on his confession to attempted robbery, first degree, unarmed. He was ordered to serve 12½ years in a state prison, plus 2 years, 3 months, and 22 days delinquent time on a Sing Sing Prison confinement from which he was released January 18, 1930. He was eligible for parole on May 31, 1941. The robbery for which he was sentenced involved $4,000.00, which was not recovered. Two co-defendants were not apprehended.

Subject served his delinquent time first, and was then paroled to start service of the 12½ year sentence on October 3, 1932. He appeared before the Parole Board on April 12, 1939, and was paroled May 1, 1939. He was received, at Sing Sing Prison as a parole violator on November 23, 1943, and met the Parole Board which ordered him held for his full maximum which would expire March 20, 1945. He was transferred to Clinton Prison, Dannemora, New York, on January 22, 1944.

In February, 1944, the Warden of Clinton Prison [REDACTED] to the Commissioner of Correction, Albany, New York.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

ascertain the date that subject should start serving the 12½ year sentence, in view of the Ingenito Decision. The Warden indicated that subject should only have been charged with 1 year, 10 months, and 19 days delinquent time on his return to prison on January 13, 1931. The basis of this inquiry is not shown, but Mr. CAIN stated that the Ingenito Decision provided that parolees were to be credited with sentence time served while serving parole time, where the original sentence was prior to July 1, 1928, and many records were being reviewed at that time to adjust inmates' time owed.

The record reflects that THOMAS F. DOUGHERTY and MARCUS L. FILLEY of the law firm Dougherty and Madden, 201 Cannon Building, Troy, New York, contacted subject in May and July, 1944, and prepared an Application for Writ of Habeas Corpus, July 8, 1944, under which the then County Judge of Clinton County, Plattsburgh, New York, F. CLAUDE O'CONNELL, ordered that the Warden of Clinton Prison produce CARMINE GALANTE in that court on July 17, 1944, in that:

On December 12, 1925, GALANTE pleaded guilty to assault, second degree, and on December 22, 1926, was sentenced to an indeterminate sentence in State Prison, minimum 2½ years and maximum 5 years; credited with 26 days jail time;

On January 18, 1930, GALANTE was admitted to parole, at which time he owed 1 year, 10 months and 9 days. On December 24, 1930, he was arrested, charged with robbery. On January 7, 1931, he pleaded guilty and received a definite sentence of 12½ years in state prison; received credit for 13 days jail time.

On his return to state prison he was informed by the Parole Board that before starting his 12½ year sentence he must serve what he owed on the maximum of his commitment of December 22, 1926, from the date of his release on parole, January 18, 1930. He was again admitted to parole May 1, 1939. On January 12, 1943, he was returned as a parole violator.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

NY 92-911

That his imprisonment was illegal; the decision of the Parole Board that GALANTE, following conviction on another felony, while on his first parole, must serve the balance remaining on his first commitment, from the date of his release on parole, January 18, 1930, is contrary to law, under Chapter 736 of the Laws of 1926, amending the then Prison Law. That GALANTE was entitled to be credited with the time on parole from January 18, 1930, to December 24, 1930, and should have been released May 11, 1944.

This writ was dismissed at the Special Term of Clinton County Court in July, 1944, and GALANTE was remanded to the custody of the Warden of Clinton Prison.

Notice of Appeal from the order of Judge O'CONNELL was filed in the office of the Clerk of Clinton County on August 24, 1944. On November 15, 1944, the Appeal was denied at a Term of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, Third Judicial District, Albany, New York.

An Appeal to the Supreme Court of the State of New York was filed by Attorney THOMAS F. DOUGHERTY December 6, 1944, on the basis that GALANTE's prison time was not properly computed, in that the time of his release on parole was not credited to him as provided in Chapter 736, Section 214, of the Laws of 1926, amending the then Prison Laws. That under Section 219 of the Correction Law, Chapter 485, Laws of 1928, the Legislature specifically provided that forfeiture of parole time should not apply except to convictions of persons sentenced on or after July 1, 1928, and confined to a state prison. That GALANTE was convicted December 24, 1926, and, under the decision in People ex. rel. Ingenito v. Brophy, 267 A.D. 295, affirmed 293, N.Y., relief was requested. The Appeal further related that the case on which Judge O'CONNELL's decision was made, and affirmed by the Third Judicial Department of the Appellate Division (Dayes v. Morhous, 267 A.D. 851), was overruled by the Court of Appeals in its recent decision in the Ingenito case.

On December 21, 1944, at a Special Term of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, held in Clinton County, Plattsburgh, New York, before Justice ANDREW W. RYAN, ROBERT C. BOOTH, Assistant Attorney General, was asked by the court if under the Ingenito Decision, subject had completed service of his prison time. Mr. BOOTH replied that under that Decision, subject had. Justice RYAN stated it appeared to the Court that the entire maximum sentence for which GALANTE was committed had been served, and ordered his release from Clinton Prison.

It is to be noted that there is a copy of a letter in the file of Clinton Prison by Assistant Attorney General ROBERT C. BOOTH, attorney of Plattsburgh, New York, to the Attorney General of New York State, in which he stated that he could see no basis for appealing the case as prison officials were then reviewing all cases under the Ingenito Decision to recompute time owed by inmates.

It is to be noted that the above data relating to subject's release was obtained from his Clinton Prison file and from the records of the New York State Supreme Court, Clinton County Clerk's Office, Plattsburgh, New York, on February 19, 1958.

Subject's file contains correspondence with the Warden of Great Meadows Prison in 1938, wherein subject requests that the Warden reconsider the imposition of three years additional sentence imposed on subject while at Great Meadows in connection with the death of Inmate JOSEPH DEL GAIS, Number 11756, who died as a result of knife wounds. Subject apparently was not directly involved, and also suffered knife wounds, but would not name his assailant, and all persons involved were sentenced to loss of all good time, which in subject's case, amounted to three years. After considerable correspondence, the Warden of Great Meadows Prison recommended to the Warden of Clinton Prison that it was his belief that subject was not responsible and leniency might be afforded him. Subject's minimum had been increased from December 29, 1938, to January 14, 1942, but he was paroled on May 1, 1939, as a result of that action.

New York State Parole records reflected that in 1937 the subject's attorney was NICHOLAS P. ANNUZZI, 2 Lafayette Street, New York City, who at this time served a writ in Superior Court claiming GALANTE was being required to serve a longer term than that which was owed to the state.

In 1938 Mr. ROSENBERG of Slade and Ohringer, Attorneys, 299 Broadway, New York City, advised that his firm had been retained to contest the right of the Parole Board to withhold the granting of commutation and compensation time on the subject's sentence.

On February 13, 1943, parole records reflected that FRANK DELLI PAOLI, Attorney, served a writ to release GALANTE after the CARLO TRESKA murder because he was being held without charge.

Parole records further reflected that while GALANTE was in prison as a result of his parole being revoked, THOMAS DAUGHERTY, Attorney, of Troy, New York, became interested in his case and visited GALANTE on May 25, 1944.

At the time of the subject's arrest for speeding on October 18, 1956, Attorney REIMO ALLIO of Johnson City, New York, represented him at the Binghamton substation of the New York State Police. GALANTE was later represented in this speeding arrest by DONALD W. KRAMER, then Mayor of Binghamton, New York.

In an article appearing in the New York "Daily News," dated November 16, 1957, written by HOWARD WANTUCH and SIDNEY KLINE, the possible reasons and the agenda of the Apalachin meeting of November 14, 1957, were discussed. They were of the opinion that the possible reasons for this meeting were to place someone in charge of dope peddling in the New York metropolitan area and that this assignment had, at one time, been given to JOSEPH DI PALERMO, 246 Elizabeth Street, New York City, described as an ex-convict who had graduated to narcotics after big dealings in alcohol, counterfeiting, and possible murder. This article stated that JOSEPH DI PALERMO was wanted on both federal and local warrants for conspiracy to violate the narcotics statutes but that he had reportedly left the country several months ago with another man's wife and both were believed to be somewhere in Italy.

According to [REDACTED] GAROFALO resides at 339 East 58th Street, New York City, in a modern, well maintained apartment house, occupying a four room apartment with his brother, VINCENT GAROFALO. GAROFALO has no telephone, but uses a public telephone located in the lobby of the apartment, which has a doorman in attendance. GAROFALO has occupied these premises for about 15 years, and used this address as that of the High Grade Packing Company.

GAROFALO was born in Italy on September 10, 1891, and became a citizen of the United States on September 8, 1931 (Certificate #3426896). He is a rather distinguished looking man, 5'7" tall, weighing 170 pounds, having brown eyes, gray hair, and is required to wear glasses when operating a motor vehicle.

GAROFALO was issued New York State chauffeur's license #6065834, which expires on May 31, 1958. GAROFALO was fined $10.00 on November 10, 1952, for passing a light, and $5.00 on December 12, 1954, for going through a play street in Manhattan Traffic Court. There was no vehicle listed to GAROFALO or the High Grade Packing Company.

GAROFALO indicated that he was employed by the High Grade Packing Company. The New York County Clerk's Office issued business certificate 1693 on January 15, 1946, to GAROFALO as the sole owner of the High Grade Packing Company, which was reported to have been located at 100 Hudson Street, New York City, in 1946. A check of this address failed to indicate any connection with GAROFALO's company.

It is noted that on the basis of information obtained about the High Grade Packing Company, it is the opinion of [REDACTED] that the usage of this business name is a subterfuge on the part of GAROFALO to give an aura of respectability to GAROFALO and to give him an excuse to be traveling to Florida and the West Coast.

At this time, GAROFALO declared he was in the wholesale grocery business around Fresno, California, and used the address of the High Grade Packing Company, Post Office Box 1370, Merced, California, and his home address at 339 East 58th Street, New York City.

On September 13, 1940, FRANK GAROFALO was issued New York City pistol permit #23745, and gave his home address as 339 East 68th Street, New York City, rather than 339 East 58th Street, the actual residence. GAROFALO gave his occupation as a partner in the firm of M & G Coat Company, 178 McKibbins Street, Brooklyn, New York. GAROFALO purchased a .32 caliber Smith & Wesson, Serial #45564, on September 20, 1940, from FRANK LAVA, 6 Centre Street, New York City. GAROFALO stated that he needed the revolver for protection in carrying large sums of money for payrolls. GAROFALO indicated NICHOLAS MARRONE, 178 McKibbins Street, Brooklyn, as his partner, and named as character references FRANK GIARANITA, 94 Wilson Avenue, Brooklyn; ANTHONY RUSSO, R & R Cloak Company, 47 Thames Street, Brooklyn, and JOHN CREMENDO, 22 Boerum Street, Brooklyn, as a reference on a subsequent application.

GAROFALO renewed the license in 1941, 1942, and 1943. On April 19, 1943, the license was cancelled by a letter from Detective GEORGE DUNPHY, Shield 1503, and Assistant District Attorney GRUMET, as GAROFALO was no longer in business.

[REDACTED]

GAROFALO has no criminal record, and is relatively unknown to various law enforcement agencies in New York City, with the exception of the New York District Attorney's Office, who, in investigation of the CARLOS TRESKA murder, considered TRESKA's reported insult of GAROFALO as one of the most logical motives for TRESKA's death.

GAROFALO apparently is connected with Canada Dry Bottling Company, 9 Badger Avenue, Endicott, New York, operated by JOSEPH BARRERA, according to the information

IV. CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES

A. Organized Crime

1. November 14, 1957 Apalachin Meeting

The January 11, 1958 edition of the "New York Mirror" carried an article captioned, "12 ON LAM IN MAFIA PROBE," which reported the activities of the Legislative Watchdog Committee of New York. A portion of this article is quoted as follows:

"Investigators said Galante was among 60 hoodlums at November's conclave in the home of Joseph Barbara at Apalachin. He also had visited there in October 1956, when he was arrested as a traffic violator."

In connection with the Apalachin meeting on November 14, 1957, SALVATORE TORNABE, 1464 Second Avenue, New York City, associated with the Sunland Beverage Corporation, 125 Lawrence Avenue, Brooklyn, New York, had a note in his possession partially in Italian and partially in English. This note contained the telephone number of JOSEPH BARBARA, at whose home the Apalachin meeting was held on November 14, 1957. This note further mentioned the name "LILLO," which is the known underworld nickname of CARMINE GALANTE.

On [REDACTED]

after viewing a photograph of CARMINE GALANTE [REDACTED] believes he was one of the individuals who was at BARBARA's home on the morning of November 14, 1957. This individual identified as GALANTE. [REDACTED]

On October 22, 1956, information was furnished to SA [redacted] New York. [redacted] advised that the fact that the subject along with FRANK GARRO and other hoodlums were in the area and associating with JOSEPH BARBARA, a known hoodlum, and their reluctance to answer any questions led him to believe that they were consulting for some type of unlawful purpose. [redacted]

[redacted]

Investigation of this case revealed that one JOSEPH BARBARA, Apalachin, New York, on October 17, 1956, made reservations at the Arlington Hotel, Binghamton, New York, for five men. BARBARA is the operator of the Mission Beverage Company and Canada Dry Bottling Works at 9 Badger Avenue, Endicott, New York. He is a man with a lengthy criminal record, including arrest for homicide, and is known to control all of the area racketeers in this vicinity and to have wide-spread gangland connections. A check of the records of the Arlington Hotel, Binghamton, revealed that the following men registered for the reservations made by BARBARA:

[REDACTED] indicated "in speculating and conjecturing" on the reasons for the meeting at the Arlington Hotel of the above mentioned individuals, it would be logical to assume that the manufacture and distribution of untaxed liquor would have been the principal matter discussed. Continuing, he indicated GAROFALO's apparent interest in the Canada Dry Bottling Company and SANTARA's purported operation of the company together with [REDACTED] and GALANTE's knowledge of the operation of the still could present the possibility that sugar, ostensibly allocated to the manufacture of ginger ale and soft drinks, could be diverted to an illicit still operation. Gambling and narcotics are other matters which could have been discussed by these individuals. On the other hand, administration policies and perhaps arbitration of the Italian element of the American Syndicate could have been on their agenda. In any event it is the opinion of [REDACTED] that the top echelon members of the Italian underworld were represented at this meeting.

GALANTE has been active in counterfeiting and was picked up in 1950 for questioning relative to his knowledge of various East Side mobster activities regarding counterfeiting and illegal sale of alcohol. In August, 1930, GALANTE was arrested for the murder of Patrolman WALTER DE CASTILLA, who was killed trying to protect a payroll in Brooklyn. GALANTE was released for lack of evidence. On December 24, 1930, GALANTE was wounded by Detective [REDACTED] who surprised GALANTE and three other men in an attempted armed robbery of a truck. GALANTE was captured by Detective [REDACTED] after emptying his gun at the detective, piercing his overcoat several times and hitting him in the thigh. Two small children were wounded at the same time.

C. CARLO TRESCA Murder

The files of the New York State Parole Office, mentioned above, reflected that CARLO TRESCA was murdered January 11, 1943 at 9:40 p.m. at 5th Avenue in New York City. He was shot by an unidentified assailant, who then entered a Ford sedan in which two accomplices were believed to be waiting.

On January 12, 1943, an abandoned Ford was found two blocks from the scene of this murder with New York license 1C 9272, which was believed by the Police Department to be the vehicle used by the escaped murders.

On the evening of January 11, 1953, CARMINE GALANTE reported to his parole officer and upon leaving the parole office was placed under surveillance. It was suspected that GALANTE was violating the provisions of his parole and the parole officers were attempting to ascertain his activities.

After leaving the parole office, he was observed to enter a Ford sedan, license number 1C 9272, which was noted by the parole officers. Since they had no vehicle available and no other transportation was immediately available, they were unable to continue this surveillance.

The following day the parole officers noted the murder of CARLO TRESKA and the description of the vehicle found abandoned in the vicinity of this murder, at which time they advised the District Attorney's Office.

GALANTE was taken into custody on January 13, 1943 and held in violation of parole.

To date this murder has never been solved, although the District Attorney's Office and police officials are reasonably certain that GALANTE had some part in the TRESKA murder.

In the "New York Times" edition of January 10, 1958, an article appeared describing the testimony of JOHN T. CUSACK, District Supervisor of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics. Mr. CUSACK testified as to his opinions regarding the reason for the meeting at Apalachin, New York, on November 14, 1957. He also offered a theory for the recent murder of ALBERT ANASTASIA in New York and named two men suspected of the responsibility of the 1953 assassination of CARLO TRESCA, anti-Fascist editor.

He identified CARMINE GALANTE as the reputed blayer of TRESCA and stated that GALANTE was now engaged in a campaign to control narcotics, gambling and other rackets in Brooklyn, New York. These activities were receiving the attention of District Attorney EDWARD S. SILVER. FRANK GAROFALO was listed as the one who had ordered TRESCA's killing.

In the "Herald-Tribune" edition of January 10, 1958, CUSACK was quoted as saying, "FRANK GAROFALO is mentioned in the Bureau of Narcotics files in association with the late WILLY MORETTI and the late ABRAHAM DAVIDIAN, a California mobster believed to have been assassinated in 1949 by elements of the Mafia in California. GAROFALO is a close associate of JOSEPH PROFACI, Brooklyn's 'olive oil king,' who was at Apalachin."

"There have been reports in the underworld that JOSEPH DI PALERMO assisted GALENTE in carrying out the TRESCA murder by driving the get-away car."

D. Parole Violation

The New York State Parole investigation conducted to determine if GALANTE's parole should be revoked following his arrest as a suspect in the murder of CARLO TRESKA on January 13, 1943, gave the following summation of his activities since release from Sing Sing Prison on May 1, 1939. It was noted that he worked quite steady on a full-time basis until July, 1940 for the Lubin Artificial Flower Company, 552 West Broadway, New York City, and then part-time until February, 1941. Thereafter until about September, 1941 he was employed as a longshoreman at various piers. From September, 1941 to May 11, 1942, he was employed by the General Electro Plating Company, 176 Grand Street, New York City. He then received unemployment insurance until about August, 1942, at which time he was employed with the Knickerbocker Transportation Company, 383 Grand Street, and allegedly employed there until taken into custody on January 13, 1943. It had been alleged that he had been associating with [REDACTED] who was suspected of operating a still by the Federal ATU. However, ATU advised on October 10, 1941, that their informant was unable to identify GALANTE or [REDACTED]. He was charged with associating with an ex-convict, JOSEPH DI PALERMO, on January 12, 1943 and for driving an automobile for about a 6 months period of time, such being unauthorized under the terms of his parole. He was returned to prison to serve the remaining portion of his sentence.

2. New Jersey Law Enforcement Council

In January, 1958, the New Jersey Law Enforcement Council conducted an investigation into the activities of Captain CHRIS GLEITSMANN and Detective Sergeant PETER J. POLICASTRO of the West New York, New Jersey Police Department. Considerable publicity appeared in New York local newspapers concerning their attempts to intercede with the New York State Police in October, 1956 on the behalf of CARMINE GALANTE, who had been arrested for speeding by the New York State Police in October, 1956. The New Jersey Law Enforcement Council opened their hearing in Newark, New Jersey, in an effort to obtain factual information concerning these allegations.

NY 92-911

Commissioner ERNEST J. MODARELLI was also named as being behind the effort of GLEITSMANN to intercede for GALANTE. This investigation resulted in the suspension of GLEITSMANN, POLICASTRO and MODARELLI, the latter who held an additional job as issuing pistol permits for Hudson County. Captain GLEITSMANN, when testifying, claimed he had gained the acquaintance of a JOE LANZINI, proprietor of the ABCO Vending Machine Company, West New York, New Jersey, and had gone to upstate New York at JOE's request to try and get one of his salesmen out of jail. He related how Sergeant CROSWELL stopped his intercession attempts by showing him GALANTE's extensive criminal record. ANTHONY CALANDRILLO of Garfield, New Jersey, whose car GALANTE was driving when arrested in October, 1956, testified that he had only known GALANTE by his first name along with the other fellows who hung around the ABCO Vending Machine Company.

MODARELLI evaded the issuance of a subpoena to appear before the New Jersey Law Enforcement Council and remained in hiding until the New Jersey Law Enforcement Council was no longer in official existence due to expiration of the legislative term.

In a report released to the press, the Law Enforcement Council stated that the conduct of West New York Police Commissioner ERNEST J. MODARELLI and Detective Captain CHRIS GLEITSMANN strongly suggests that their relationship with the criminal element may go much deeper than intercession and attempted bribery on behalf of an ex-convict.

The Broome County Grand Jury of Binghamton opened an inquiry into the charges of police influence on behalf of CARMINE GALANTE. Despite the dropping of charges by the Chairman of the New York Legislative Watchdog Committee, they named additional persons as being interested in the speeding arrest of CARMINE GALANTE, one of whom was identified as VINCENT MACRI, described as the Capital Hill Mystery Man who got the State Division of Veterans Affairs to look into the speeding arrest of GALANTE.

An article appeared in the New York "World Telegram and Sun" dated February 4, 1958, concerning the New Jersey state probe by Deputy Attorney General CHARLES S. JOELSON who had obtained indictments against four West New York, New Jersey Police officials on misconduct and conspiracy charges. This indictment reportedly charged ERNEST J. MODARELLI, West New York Public Safety Commissioner; Police Chief FREDERICK J. ROOS; Detective Captain CHRIS GLEITSMANN; Detective Sergeant PETER POLICASTRO, and a man called only as "JOSEPH JOE," who was described as a man of dark complexion formerly employed by the ABCO Vending Company in which CARMINE GALANTE allegedly had an interest. It is believed that "JOSEPH JOE," mentioned above, is identical to "JOSEPH ZICARELLI."

In the New York "Herald Tribune" dated February 20, 1958, an article appeared concerning the identity of the Albany, New York, man who intervened for CARMINE GALANTE concerning his 1956 traffic arrest. This person was identified by Acting State Investigation Commissioner, ARTHUR L. REUTER, as being NATHAN WEINSTEIN. It was reported that VINCENT MACRI, who was described as a Legislative Consultant, had been asked by Mr. WEINSTEIN to get information concerning the arrest of CARMINE GALANTE. WEINSTEIN was described as being an Albany liquor dealer who was presently in a semi-conscious state in Albany Hospital and had been recently declared judicially incompetent about five or six months ago.

two individuals to escape. He stated that from his experience with GALANTE at this time and the information he has learned since then, he considers GALANTE to be a vicious killer with no emotions whatsoever. He added that since GALANTE's involvement in the murder of CARLO TRESKA and the fact that he refused to talk concerning this, he began his rise in the criminal underworld to where he now occupies the position of a trusted lieutenant.

He stated that GALANTE is the type who would be given such an assignment as the murder of ALBERT ANASTASIA, which was committed in October, 1957. He based this opinion on the fact that no matter what illegal activities GALANTE might be caught in or charged with, he has the reputation of not talking.

IN VIEW OF THE FACT THAT GALANTE IS KNOWN TO HAVE CARRIED FIREARMS IN THE PAST, TO HAVE SHOT AT LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS ATTEMPTING TO APPREHEND HIM, AND IN VIEW OF HIS LONG CRIMINAL RECORD FOR ASSAULT AND ROBBERY, HE SHOULD BE CONSIDERED ARMED AND EXTREMELY DANGEROUS.
